

LOCAL, REGIONAL, GLOBAL CLUSTER OF INNOVATION

A cluster of innovation is a physical area where many key needs of a number of innovative companies are available. Human Resources, Universities, Investors, infrastructure, favorable legal and tax terms, etc.

The difference between Local, Regional and Global is mainly driven by the access to the markets. A Local COI is a necessity on day to day needs, regional and global are basically expansion to larger markets through close ties between some of the entities, for example through University connections or through companies you work closer with. Those connections give you access to the entities in the other clusters.
